

Friday, April 25, 2008

Exec add-on

Atlanta Business Chronicle - by Joe Rauch Staff Writer

Consulting firm The Intersect Group has appointed a new director to oversee one of its three main business divisions.

Catherine Dixon, a former ChoicePoint Inc. executive, will run the firm's executive advisory services unit.

Intersect Group's executive advisory service specializes in consulting clients companies during mergers and acquisitions.

Dixon previously worked as a mergers and acquisitions executive at ChoicePoint, the Alpharetta-based data company recently purchased by London-based firm Reed Elsevier.

Prior to that, she was an investment banker at SunTrust Robinson Humphrey.